A Philosophy of Holistic Living

Developed by host Daniela Pfefferkorn and shaped by more than 30 years of experience, this philosophy forms the foundation of the Goldener Berg experience.

It is based on the belief that true strength comes from alignment — with ourselves, with nature and with our surroundings.

Built on three core dimensions

Body
Mind
Soul

Body: wellbeing, restorative sleep, nourishing food and mindful movement through yoga, alpine bathing and time in nature. These elements are complemented by targeted treatments, physiotherapy, detox programs and energy work.

Mind: Clarity. Presence. Direction. Creating space for reflection, coaching and intentional focus.

Soul: Depth. Connection. Renewal. Encouraging emotional balance and inner reconnection with energy medicine.
